

The kids know him as “Mr. Rich, the guy that keeps the computers running.”

Naturally gifted in mechanics and technology, Rich has a long history with computers. Buying his first computer in 1996 and as a father of many biological and foster children, safety on the internet is a primary focus in his house.

As a business owner, Rich built and maintained multiple computer systems for 17 years, gaining experience in virus control and network management.

He has served as an IT volunteer in his local church since 2004 and the IT admin at LCA since 2014.

“I’ve learned much about keeping your children and the school systems current and safe. I may be the Academy’s “IT Guy,” but you may never see me walking the halls. As I like to say, if my customers don’t see me, I’ve done my job well.”
