

Deborah Nuber graduated from Edinboro University with a Bachelor of Arts degree. She has over 25 years of teaching experience all within the A.C.S.I. network.

She and her husband, Jeff, enjoy leading home groups, being on the intercessory prayer team and spending time with their three grandchildren.

Deborah helped to start LCA in 2005 and retired from full-time teaching as the first and second grade teacher. She currently teaches elementary art and children's literature part-time at LCA.

"My life joy is to teach, lead and guide others in their relationships with Christ and to be used to open young children's eyes to God's love and hope for their futures through education."
